COMMENT and RUMOR

The Ocean Beach Five and Ten Cent store at 4949 Newport ave., owned by Mrs. Carolyn Coats, closed this week as their building lease expires on Oct. 30th. It is reported the stock of merchandise has been sold to a Five & Dime store at Old Town and will be moved out immediately. According to John E. Loftus, realtor, a photographer has leased this building and will open for business right soon. We understand this is an established Ocean Beach business which has been seeking a good location for a year or more, just waiting the opportunity for this fine location in the center of the business district. Opening announcement of the photographer will be in next week's issue of the Ocean Beach News.

A pair of energetic young men of Ocean Beach who have a few hours to spare aside from their regular vocation this week opened a Toy Exchange at 1930 Bacon st., where used toys will be bought, repaired and painted, then placed on sale at the same address. This work is one in which these particular men have a special interest as they want to see all the youngsters of the beach made happy at the Christmas season.

A DEPARTED FRIEND

Thursday last week many busy business men of Ocean Beach and San Diego ceased their duties to attend the funeral rites and pay last respects of our beloved friend and neighbor J. A. Gilbert. Profuse and beautiful were the choice flowers which manifested the great respect and tokens of love for this departed friend.

The Johnson-Saum chapel was noticeably well filled with local business people and family friends, also many printing house proprietors, stationers and those paper customers the deceased had served well and faithfully for more than a quarter of a century.

One of our scouts reports that Lynn and Mabel Price will open a new restaurant in the Kraft building being vacated by Ocean Beach Transfer and O. W. Jordan at 1877 Bacon st. The Prices are successful restaurateurs having had a very large trade during the time they operated Mabel's cafe at 2185 Bacon st., near Voltaire.

Samples of the most beautiful Christmas cards you have ever seen are on display at the Ocean Beach News office, 1922 Bacon st. Don't delay in making your selection for stocks are short and you will not get what you want if you wait too long to order.

Marine Corporal John J. Romanza got an eye full when he landed in San Francisco recently. In a quiz at the USO he said: "Too many girls in San Francisco wear their clothes too tight. What they got they ought to keep to themselves."

Lloyd E. Wilson, grand secretary of the Free and Accepted Masons, noting the strife and bickering in high and low places of our nation says: "We in America must learn to live together on the principle that unless there are rights for all, there may ultimately be rites for none."

Hitting the nail on the head, George R. Reilly, member of the State Board of Equalization says: "Delinquent parents constitute the real problem in stopping delinquency among children."

SCOUT TROOP 28

The meeting opened Friday at 7:15 when Garrett Vedder and Cromer Hubbard posted the flags. Walter Turner led the troop in the scout oath and Linden Raney led in the scout law. An announcement was made about all kinds of games are wanted at the Gilmore station for the boys overseas.

Scout Walter Turner demonstrated mapping, a first class requirement.

Giannini Compliments Bank America Employees For Magnificent Bond Sale

A. P. Giannini this week celebrated the birthday of the Bank of America, which he founded 39 years ago, by announcing that a drive by employees of the bank to sell $300,000,000 in war bonds between Aug. 2 and the end of next Jan. had already gone over the top, after only 11 weeks of a projected 26 weeks campaign. Personally addressing the statewide staff through a state-wide radio hookup, Giannini said, "The only word I can think of to describe this response is: MAGNIFICENT!"

"But let's not waste too much time feeling prideful about our big achievement," he told the employees, "except to realize that no goal is impossible. This campaign is not over yet. We embarked on a six months Victory Drive, and although the adding machines show that we have gone over our statewide quota it simply means that we have exceeded our expectations. We are only ahead of schedule. We must keep going."

He promised that the strong advertising campaign in California newspapers, to which much of the war bond sales record was attributed, would be continued through to the end of January. "The war still goes on," he asserted. "There will still be bills to pay, and America can look only to you and to me and our fellow Americans for the money with which to pay them. Carry on!"

Mrs. Margie A. Yeargin this week purchased a half interest in the Chicken Inn cafe at 5054 Newport ave., Ocean Beach, buying out the interest of Sam Cole. Mrs. Yeargin is a sister of Mrs. Edna Sayles, the other partner in the cafe, under whose direct management the business has been operated since buying out the former owner, Mr. Fisher.

Dick Hillman this week reopened a furniture store at 1884 Bacon st., which location was used in the same business until recently by James W. Morgan, and previously by others.

Pointer Football Squad To Grossmont Today

The Point Loma high football squad journeys to Grossmont today to meet the gridders of the La Mesa-Eli Cajon section. Local supporters of the team trust the game will be much more in our favor than last week's contest, which ended in a 25 to 0 score in favor of Hoover high school.

In the football carnival at Balboa stadium, early in the season, Point Loma and Grossmont played one quarter of the contest with an 0-0 score.

Good luck Pointers.

War Chest Parade Thursday Morning

One of the most colorful spectacles in San Diego's history will be staged on Thursday, Oct. 28, when the "Million for Mercy" War Chest parade will be held in San Diego, starting at Sixth and Date sts., at 10 o'clock, it was announced by George A. Scott, general campaign chairman.

Scott named Mayor Harley Knox as honorary chairman, and G. Aubrey Davidson as general chairman of the parade committee. Davidson, long-time community leader, is president of the Army and Navy Y.M.C.A., one of the 52 agencies which are participating in the 1943 $1,030,743 campaign.

More than 5000 troops, representing contingents from all over San Diego's many military units will participate in the parade, which will move down Sixth to C st., thence east to 9th, and south to Broadway, and over our statewide quota it simply means that we have exceeded our expectations. We are only ahead of schedule. We must keep going."

The reviewing stand will be located in front of the courthouse, will contain the various commanding officers, and city, county and other officials.

Old Newspapers Wanted For Packing War Goods

A county-wide drive for old newspapers for the war effort was launched Wednesday by the American Legion, with five central depots designated for collection centers, according to L. M. Nichols, commander of the 22nd district of the Legion. Nichols said that "we have a request for 300 tons of folded, and tied newspaper bundles to be used for shredding and packing of implements of war in the war factories."

Collection centers include Ocean Beach, Dan Moss, B-6747, Old San Diego, 4301 Taylor st., East San Diego at Legion Post 201 at 4061 Fairmont ave.

Ocean Beach U.S.O.

Needs Good Things to Eat

The Ocean Beach U.S.O. is doing very fine work in our community. We have extended a great deal of hospitality to the service men, as well as their wives, sweethearts and mothers. We have been very fortunate in housing mothers and wives of these boys and are badly in need of more listings. We would appreciate more cooperation in our Canteen also, such as, donations of cookies, cakes, doughnuts, pie, and any sweet that can be served to the boys with the coffee. Each and every one of our boys enjoy the Canteen immensely.

For recreation we are in need of card tables. We could use four tables and straight back chairs to a great advantage.

One problem we have, is trying to keep a supply of ping pong balls. We would appreciate donations of these as we are having a Halloween party Saturday, Oct. 30, for the boys.

Point Loma High Assembly Programs

One of the most popular student assembly programs at Pt. Loma high school is the one where outstanding talent is presented. Jolene Baldrige, commissioner of auditorium activities, announces a "Student Talent Program" for Thursday, Oct. 28th, at 9:10 a.m. and again at 10 o'clock. Friends and parents of the school are most cordially invited to attend this program as well as all other programs.

New and old students of the school will be in the following program:

Violin Solo Norman Oliver. A Dance Loures Souza. Soprano Solo Elizabeth Rodgers. Piano Solo Genia Sprinkle. Soprano Solo Jackie Mitchell. Accordion Solo Mary Trushinski. Eight More Days Before Subscription Change to $2.50 Year

Saturday, Oct. 30, is the deadline for $2 a year subscription rates to old and new subscribers of the Ocean Beach News. Checks in the mail before Nov. 1st will be accepted at the old rate.

Beginning Monday, Nov. 1, our subscription rate will be $2.50 a year, or $1.50 for six months. Those who have paid prior to Nov. 1st will naturally receive credit at the $2 a year rate.

The advance is necessary on account of increasing cost of production. Newsprint is $8 per ton higher than last March. Labor costs have also advanced with other expenses in proportion.

This newspaper appreciates the wonderful amount of cash payments made on subscriptions in the past and will keep the Ocean Beach News up to its present standard or better if materials permit.

Asst. City Manager Speaker at Kiwanis

Glen E. Rick, assistant city manager of the city of San Diego was guest speaker at Ocean Beach Kiwanis Tuesday evening with James H. McKinney, assistant city attorney, as program chairman.

Mr. Rick in his authoritative talk said the city manager's office is giving a great deal of consideration to post war planning, knowing that there will be many from aircraft plants and now in government employ who will be seeking work elsewhere. San Diego's estimated population was given at 385,000, not including military personnel, and of the former, there are many who will be seeking work in improvements now being planned by city, county and state bureaus.

Transportation and housing are reported as an immediate need and the federal government is endeavoring to relieve the same. The speaker referred to the Point Loma-Ocean Beach sewer lines being connected with the large interceptor system at an early date and for the future, plans for water from the Colorado river, the building of the proposed Mission bay jetties and an addition to the Civic Center buildings, all these latter at a time when labor is not at a premium.

John E. Loftus, Ocean Beach realtor, was a guest of the club.

Eighty Pints Plasma Given Local Fire Fighters

Two weeks before the catastrophic forest fires that swept through parts of San Diego county, 50 men from Camp Lockett's Service Command Unit 1961 attended the Red Cross blood donor center and donated a pint of blood each to be processed into plasma.

Today the commanding officer of Camp Lockett, Colonel Waldron J. Cheney, credited plasma with having saved the lives of many Marines who were injured in the fire.

In a statement to Red Cross officials, he announced that over 80 pints of plasma were administered to the seriously injured service men, and that it was probable that there would have been a great loss of life if it had not been available.

"To us at Camp Lockett the value of the plasma has been demonstrated with a forceful reality," said Colonel Cheney. "Now we can doubly appreciate its worth to men overseas who are wounded in action. Great tribute should be paid to the men and women of San Diego who donate their blood, and to the Red Cross which makes this opportunity to be of life-saving service possible."

Peace is liberty in tranquility.—Cicero.

Ration Book Four Available Now or Nov. 8

Individuals who fail to make application for Ration Book Four Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday of this week will not be able to apply to the War Price and Rationing Boards until Nov. 8, according to Ernest J. Shields, district board operations executive.

As the first stamps in Book Four, the green ones, become valid for processed food on Nov. 1, those who do not apply now are going to inconvenience themselves.

It is necessary for the boards to have this much time in order to clear up clerical work connected with the issuance of Book Four and nowhere in the region will it be possible to make an application to the boards before the date set.

Theatre Owner Recovers From Illness

Al Keogh, president of the Keogh circuit of theatres, is reported as now improving at Scripps hospital after several weeks of serious illness. Two major operations have been undergone by Mr. Keogh during this time and he hopes soon to be at home with his family at 4884 Brighton ave.

Keogh was stricken suddenly while at the Seville theatre in Chula Vista on business and rushed to the hospital in a critical condition. He had been in fair health only for some months prior to this attack.

Samuel M. Eby, brother-in-law of Keogh, is manager of the Strand theatre in Ocean Beach. The men have previously been partners in the movie business and have a record of successful entertainment for the public to back them up in our local theatre.

Cabrillo School P.T.A. Have 200 at Meeting

The Cabrillo elementary school Parent-Teacher's association met for the first time this school year. Their first meeting was a delightful dinner. The tables were beautifully decorated by the decoration committee headed by Mrs. Mary Silva. Mrs. J. Smith, at the head of the food committee served a delicious dinner, with the aid of her committee.

After a general meeting, and introduction of the teaching staff, by their principal, William Jack Stone, Carl Zorn presented his Cub Scout den No. 1. The group witnessed Ronald Benton receive the Bear gold owl, and Charles Lewis receive the Wolf silver arrow, for achievements.

The Red Cross Blood Donor committee completed the program by the showing of a film, and a brief lecture on the necessity of civilians donating their blood.

The large group of approximately 200 people, resulted in a reunion to many and a welcome to the new members of the Cabrillo Parent-Teacher's association.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allied Armies Meet Stiff Resistance From Nazi's Defense Line in Italy; Japs Flee Solomon, New Guinea Bases; More Taxes Sought to Pay War Costs

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

U. S. troops stalk carefully through battered Italian town on march to Rome. Doughboys are on lookout for snipers.

ITALY:

Fight for Rome

Beating forward to Rome, Allied armies ran into what appeared to be the Germans' first stiff defense line across southern Italy.

In taking up their new positions, the Germans entrenched themselves on the north bank of the Volturno river on the western coast, and along the open, narrow plain on the eastern coast. Between the two coasts, their troops dug into the rugged mountains.

In all, the line ran 125 miles across Italy. Allied Generals Montgomery and Clark brought up reinforcements for the first thrust at the enemy's new positions, while U. S. and British airmen pounded German supply routes leading to the front.

Observers kept one eye cocked on the Balkans, where German and British units were fighting for small islands in the Aegean sea, from which an invasion fleet moving into Greece or Jugo-Slavia could be bombed.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:

Jap Posts Crumble

The Japanese position in the Solomons and New Guinea is slowly crumbling. With the Allies holding the advantage in sea and air strength, the Japs have found it increasingly difficult to supply their distant outposts, and latest in the group to be abandoned was Kolombangara in the Solomons.

Unable to use big cargo or naval vessels because they would become easy prey for the superior Allied sea and air forces, the Japs are continuing to rely on barges for supplying their advanced bases, and, as in the case of Kolombangara, evacuating men. Operated at night, these barges are hidden along the seashores by day.

In New Guinea, the Allies beat back light patrols guarding the approaches to Madang, Jap air and shipping base on the northeast coast. The Allies were skirting the enemy's main defenses in a wide, circling movement, to fall on the base from the rear in much the same pattern as their conquests of Lae and Finschafen.

PEACE AIMS:

Three Faiths Agree

Identical peace aims have been enunciated by representatives of the three great faiths of the United States in a seven-point declaration. After months of study, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, speaking for the Protestants, Catholics and Jews, issued a seven-point postwar program.

Salient points are: 1. A just peace based upon recognition that "not only individuals, but nations, states and international society are subject to the sovereignty of God and the moral law;" 2. States must repudiate racial, religious or other discrimination; 3. Safeguards for all peoples, large and small; 4. Equal educational opportunities and political equality for minorities; 5. Guarantee of faithful fulfillment of international obligations; to provide collective security by limitation of armaments; to compel arbitration of disputes; 6. International economic collaboration "to assist all states to provide an adequate standard of living for their citizens;" 7. Security of the family and participation of labor in decisions affecting its welfare.

PHILIPPINES:

Immediate Independence

To combat Japanese propaganda designed to obtain the support of the Filipinos in the war against the U. S., congress has received a bill to grant the Philippine Islands their independence as soon as possible rather than in 1946.

Following introduction of the bill, President Roosevelt recommended that action be taken on the proposal, with provisions for economic freedom, postwar rehabilitation with U. S. help, and military security through U. S.-Filipino cooperation.

In attempting to consolidate their hold over the Philippines, the Japs have been dinning the natives that the U. S. is insincere in its promise of granting them independence.

TAXES:

More Sought

Declaring that the American people are able to pay for at least 50 per cent of war expenses through taxes, Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson urged a reluctant congress to approve the government's program for 10 1/2 billion dollars of new levies.

The program calls for higher income and corporation taxes, and increased rates on tobacco, liquor, amusements and luxuries of all kinds. The program also was to slap new levies on candy, chewing gum, soft drinks, greeting cards and other items.

Present taxes are paying for about 38 per cent of war expenses, and the additional 10 1/2 billion dollars would bring the figure up to almost 50 per cent. In his statement to congress, Vinson declared that higher taxes also will serve to prevent inflation.

The government also proposed increased social security taxes for higher unemployment payments and temporary disability and hospital benefits.

DRAFT:

New Regulations

Although the senate killed Sen. Burton Wheeler's bill to postpone the induction of fathers until January 1, it moved toward providing stricter utilization of other manpower.

Through adoption of a substitute bill, the senate voted: 1. Occupational deferments would be limited to pre-war fathers, unless employers could prove indispensability of single or childless married men; 2. All deferments would be subject to review by the appeal board within the district where the employer was located; 3. A board would be appointed to study lowering present physical standards to make use of 4F's.

In the senate bill which went to the house for consideration, allowances to service men's wives were increased to $50 and to $30 for the first child, and $20 for each additional child.

Perils of Duck Hunting

Meat rationing has caused the ranks of 1943 hunters to be increased by thousands of newcomers to the sport. But the same war which brought rationing has complicated duck hunting. The army, navy and coast guard are very cautious about letting anyone hunt in coastal areas. Photographs, birth certificates, federal duck stamps and permits galore must be in order before the hunter can take his first shot. Many famous ducking territories are completely forbidden to sportsmen for the duration. It has never been merely a matter of getting a gun, some shells and a dog to go.

FIRST AMERICAN HUNTER was the Indian, Penobscot Chief Needahbah ignores lack of ammunition caused by white man's war and anticipates a bounteous season as he uses the ancient method of his father—a bow and arrow. In contrast to his system, white hunters use rifles, camouflaged blinds connected by tunnels, look-out towers, and decoys so realistically made that they fool the real thing. Some of these decoys are pictured below floating near a hunter's boat as he takes aim.

TRAP—Hunter in lower photo is setting out decoys on haul lines. Ducks settle amongst them. The decoys are drawn slowly shoreward and the ducks follow to their death. The manufacture of decoys is an ancient art. There are many types, some being silhouettes. Others are made in three dimensions.

PLUCKING ducks is patriotic in wartime. Feathers are saved to use in suits of aviators.

COOKING—Object of all the trouble—roast duck. Mrs. Hunter bastes the birds in the oven.

Comfortable Chair-- It's Easy to Make

THE war is bringing many changes in the things we use and the things we do. Women as well as men are learning to handle tools. If a chair is lacking we make one. If we cannot have springs we find a way to make it comfortable anyway. That is the spirit of the times.

Perhaps you have made lawn chairs all with straight cuts of the hand saw. Have you ever stopped to realize that it is almost as easy to cut curves with a compass saw? Curves add comfort as well as beauty and a tufted cushion distributes the weight so that springs are not missed so much. The curved pieces of the charming chair sketched here are shown at the left. You can see how easy they are to cut out of odds and ends of one-inch lumber that you may have on hand. The reinforcing pieces are all straight cuts.

NOTE--Mrs. Spears has prepared an actual-size pattern for all the curved sections of this chair. Complete dimensions and directions for the chair construction and for making the tufted cushion, with list of materials included. This is pattern 295 and costs 15 cents. Send your order to:

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

There's a right and a wrong way to carve a lamb roast! If you want to get the most out of your meat, place the shank bone to the right of the carver, the thick, meaty section to the right of the platter.

Plan Long Career, Much Variety for Leg o' Lamb Roast

If you plan a long and much-varied career for your roasts, you will not only have delicious meals from them but you will work a wonderful saving on points.

Take a roast leg of lamb, for instance. If you have it on Sunday baked in all its glory to a nice golden brown, you can still have meat on Monday by creaming the leftovers and serving in a noodle ring, and then again on Tuesday with vegetables as a salad. Yes, there you have three deliciously different ways of serving from just one cut of meat. A wonderful point-stretcher? Yes, indeed!

Don't be scared of the leftovers when you chart your course ahead. Giving the roast this three-way career makes it an economical purchase even for smaller families.

Proper cooking prevents excess shrinkage. Proper carving will avoid needless waste. A slow oven is best for roasting to prevent shrinkage.

Roast Leg of Lamb.

Do not remove fell. Put leg, skin side up on a rack in roasting pan. Season with salt and pepper. If using a meat thermometer, make an incision into the roast, and insert center of thermometer so bulb reaches center of roast and does not rest on either bone or fat. Place roast uncovered into a slow oven (300 degrees) until done. Three to 3½ hours is the time limit required. If a thermometer is used, the meat is done to medium when it registers 175 degrees or well done when the thermometer registers 180 degrees. When serving, garnish pear halves, centers filled with mint jelly and leaf.

How to Carve Lamb.

The leg of lamb should be placed before the carver so that the shank bone is to his right, and the thick, meaty section to the right side of the platter. Different roasts will not always have the same surface uppermost because of the different right and left legs. This, however, does not affect the method of carving.

Insert the carving fork firmly in the large end of the leg and carve two or three lengthwise slices from the near thin side. Turn the roast so that it rests on the surface just cut. The shank bone now points up from the platter. Insert the fork in the left of the roast. Starting at the shank end, slice down to the leg bone. Parallel slices may be made until the shank bone is reached. One-quarter to three-eighths of an inch is a desirable thickness. With the fork still in place, run the knife along the leg bone releasing all the slices.

Is there lamb leftover from Sunday? Cut up the remainder of the lamb in cubes and serve it thus:

Creamed Lamb and Peas in Noodle Ring.

(Serves 6)

Noodle Ring: Cook 8-ounce package of wide noodles as directed on package, drain and rinse. Combine with 4 tablespoons melted butter or substitute and put in greased 1-quart ring mold. Set mold in pan of hot water for 10 minutes.

Creamed Lamb and Peas:

3 cups cooked, diced lamb
1 medium onion, sliced
3 tablespoons butter
2 cups leftover gravy
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper to taste
¼ cup cooked peas
3 green pepper rings, cut in half
6 slices pineapple

Saute sliced onion in butter until tender, add gravy and season with Worcestershire sauce. Add meat and peas. Cook slowly until heated through, add salt and pepper. Unmold noodle ring and fill center with lamb. Garnish with green pepper rings and pineapple which has been slightly sauteed in fat.

If there is no gravy left from the meat, add 4 tablespoons flour to the butter or substitute in which the onion is cooked, stirring until lightly

Leftover lamb can be appetizingly served in a noodle ring which does a splendid job of extending the meat. Peas and the remainder of the gravy can go into this ring along with the cubed pieces of lamb.

browned. Add 2 cups of water in which a bouillon cube has been dissolved. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened and smooth.

The last of the lamb can be used effectively in a salad bowl just in case there's still some of it left. Extend the meat smartly with fruits that are compatible:

Lamb Salad Bowl.

(Serves 6)

2½ cups diced, cold lamb
2 cups diced celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
6 slices red apple
1 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon chopped mint

Place diced lamb in center of bowl. Arrange diced celery in a circle around the lamb; repeat using chopped green pepper. Cut apple in half; core and slice crosswise. Place the slices around edge of salad bowl, peel side up, and extending about an eighth of an inch over the side of the bowl. Serve with mayonnaise to which has been added chopped mint.

Lamb is inexpensive in both points and money as compared with other cuts of meat. Curry is a natural seasoning for it:

Lamb Curry Pie.

(Serves 6)

2 pounds lamb, shoulder or breast
1 onion, diced
1 tablespoon fat
3 cups hot water
¼ teaspoon thyme
2½ teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon curry powder
¼ cup water
3 cups cooked rice

Cut lamb into inch-length pieces. Brown lamb and onion in hot fat. Add water, thyme and salt. Simmer 1½ hours or until meat is tender. Combine flour and curry powder; add cold water and mix to a smooth paste; add to lamb. Line greased baking dish on sides and bottom with rice, pressing rice firmly into place. Fill center with lamb mixture and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 minutes.

Rice may be omitted, and the top covered with baking powder biscuit dough. This should be baked in a hot oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

MOTHER-IN-LAW CHEERS LONG SOUGHT RELIEF!

Had Been "Irregular" for Years!

Have you often despaired of ever finding normal regularity? Then, by all means, read this unsolicited letter:

"For many long years, my mother-in-law had suffered from common constipation. She used to take all kinds of pills and medicines, but got no lasting relief. Upon starting to use KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, her trouble cleared up. She feels like a new person, she says. She wanted me to tell the world how your product helped her." Mrs. Poline Ballis, 734 East 160th Street, Bronx, N. Y.

How do scientists explain the apparent "magic" of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN's relief? Simply this: ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of "cellulose" elements — a lack of which in sufficient amounts in the diet is a common cause of constipation! These elements help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and lighten the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN doesn't work by "purging"—or by "sweeping you out." It is a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If this is your trouble eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water! See if you don't find the welcome relief you've hoped for! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

WILLKIE TALKS STRAIGHT

Wendell Willkie's radio talk a week ago shows his viewpoint has changed somewhat over three years ago and that his knowledge of the world has grown appreciably. We like his forceful manner of telling all who listen just what he thinks the world needs, especially these United States of America.

Truer understanding of all nationalities, colors and creeds, is believed necessary between world peoples. Also respect for each other's viewpoint must be given when capital and labor confer on mutual problems, especially those that will confront us when victory comes.

Willkie at present is the strongest representative a free America could possibly have with a growing understanding of the many great problems in this troubled world.

ITALY JOINS THE ALLIES

The wheel of fate landed unhappy Italy where she should have been in the first place—on the side of the United Nations battling Germany, the traditional enemy of Roman culture and civilization.

Only the future will unfold the military value of Italy's declaration of war against Germany. It is problematical how much assistance Italy's shattered armies can give to the United Nations' cause. But Italy's fleet is intact. And with Allied officers serving with her navy, it should be a powerful complement to United Nations' sea power. The surrender of the Italian fleet already has released strong Allied naval units for use against Japan in the forthcoming offensives in the Pacific.

Probably, the greatest immediate value of Italy's new status as a co-belligerent with the United Nations, lies in the political field. It is an encouragement to the Nazi satellites in the Balkans to turn against their oppressor and help contract the Allied ring of encirclement against Hitler. It should also have a profound influence on the future course of the Spanish dictator Franco, and on the government of Argentina, the only American nation still maintaining relations with the crippled Axis.

Italy's action is probably prophetic of things to come in other nations which are reading the handwriting on the wall.

Civilian Defense ---

By ONA E. PITCOCK

Monday we had a little rain and wind. No doubt you closed your doors and windows and lit the fires. Then old rocking chair got you. All who were not working.

Not so with our boys over there. They flew over the enemy country and fought and died in slush and rain. At no time in the year do they have the wonderful climate we do in America. It is wet, cold and foggy nine months of the year. Soot is everywhere and its gets on your face and you smear it. When you arrive home you look like an Indian. You can realize what these boys go through when fighting for their lives. I can realize some of it but none of us can realize the horror of this mechanical war.

I am speaking the truth about the terrible climate of Europe because I spent some time touring it and have thanked God every day since, that I was born an American and lived most of my life in beautiful California. I cried and thanked God all at one time when I returned and could see that beloved statute of Liberty.

This country is well worth fighting for.

My heart is heavy this morning because some of you have forgotten to pack boxes. Of course our boxes have gone overseas but the boxes we give here locally will go to our boys who will soon be going over. Boxes can be had at Mrs. Miller's, 4645 Saratoga ave., or at Red Cross Distribution, 4769 Del Monte. We want to send them in Nov. 1st.

I have spoken several times about saving grease and most of you have but the government had to give a large amount of lard to soap makers so our soap would not be of poor quality or have to be rationed. Don't let this happen. Save every drop.

In Cleveland, a widow, Mrs. Florence Murphy, 65 years old, made 3380 surgical dressings in one week, working from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Top that! Please go to the Marine base or Loma Port school and make dressings. Remember more and more of our boys are coming back wounded. Don't let it be said they have to wear soiled dressings.

Mrs. Miller, district leader, has at her home certificates and cards for Mrs. Bonham, Mrs. Elsie Brennan, Mrs. E. Lloyd, Mrs. Charles McMannass, Mrs. Georgia A. Smith, Mrs. E. L. Yates, Mrs. M. Penniman and certificates for Mrs. Hayward and Mrs. Heywood.

The last Defenders are also at Mrs. Miller's.

Another wartime Hallowe'en is just ahead of us. Pranksters will be classed as saboteurs if they do any damage. Broken glass is not needed, but broken windows will have to be repaired. Building materials are not only scarce but high and all damage must be repaired and glass and materials are needed to make homes for our defense workers. If you deflate a tire or pull a switch it will require the time of a repair man, so please, boys and girls, help keep law and order. Have fun but don't do any damage. Not one of you is a saboteur, you are Americans. The City Recreational department, room 702 Civic Center will give you suggestions. Call them.

Call Mrs. Larson at B-6037 and sign up for a home nursing class. We want to get up a class for men in home nursing as many times the wife or children are sick and he is at loss what to do. As we average one doctor for each 1000 persons we all need this course. Don't wait until sickness comes. Take care of yourself, eat correctly and with a course in home nursing you will be prepared if the worst comes.

This makes a nice invitation: If modern ghost you've never seen, Come to our house on Hallowe'en.

Cats screeching, skeletons creaking, Ghosts roaming, witches groaning!

Won't you come and join the fun? There was a report you could not put dice in your boxes but Red Cross says you can, as many games are played with dice. Playing cards, checkers, Monopoly and any games you can get in your boxes.

Our Red Cross unit will send a box of larger games up to con-valéscent ward at Navy hospital. Also records and any gift you wish sent there. Some of these boys are badly wounded and music helps to pass away the time. If you have used table model radios you will give me will have them repaired. Call B-5639.

Mrs. O. C. Dare had her block meeting in the evening, October 18 and the women packed boxes.

Mrs. Bjork made the rounds of her block. So many work in her block she cannot get them all together at once.

CHRISTMAS CARD BULLETIN The Red Cross has requested the Women's Division, Civilian Defense Council, to assist them in providing Christmas cards which the patients in the U. S. Service hospitals may send their families and friends.

You may send the Christmas cards to your district leader, 4645 Saratoga ave., or the Red Cross headquarters, Balboa park.

Will you please inform the women of the Block Plan under your leadership that their contribution to this additional Christmas project will be appreciated by the sick and wounded men of the U. S. armed forces. Mrs. David A. Fraser, chairman Women's Division, Civilian Defense Council.

The county is one of 50 counties in California in which the county board of supervisors reduced the county-wide tax rate for 1943-44, the association found. Only five California counties showed increases in the rate for county-wide purpose, while in three counties the county-wide tax rate showed no change from the rate levied for 1942-43. "Many factors contributed to tax rate reduction this year," the association said. "The counties maximum share of the cost of old age assistance was cut by the Legislature from $10 to $5 per case per month. Other type of relief have shown positive downward trends. Capital outlay has ceased because of war conditions. Loss of personnel to the armed forces and war industries has in many cases reduced the number of county employees. Surpluses and carry-over balances in many communities have aided in tax rate reductions. Assessed values are up in all but six California counties.

Property Tax Rate Shows 16c Decline

The $1.77 county-wide tax rate for San Diego county for 1943-44, is down 16 cents from the $1.93 rate levied for 1942-43, study of county-wide tax rates just completed by California Taxpayers' association, shows. The county-wide rate includes all rates levied on all property throughout the county, the association said. The county is one of 50 counties in California in which the county board of supervisors reduced the county-wide tax rate for 1943-44, the association found. For Victory—Buy United States War Bonds

VICTORY'S SONS

LITTLE yellow warriors were pressing in on the beleaguered Marines. Though man after man dropped as the Americans pumped lead from their Garands, the Japs were too many, there on Guadalcanal. It looked like a last stand for the Leathernecks.

Sergt. John Basilone, USMC, was sweeping the field with his machine gun. Despite the slaughter his weapon was making, the soldiers of Nippon came onward. He felt that they would soon get him.

His only protection was a little mound of earth. He needed a higher barrier if he was going to stay in the fight.

Piling the bodies of 38 friends and enemies alike into a wall, he crouched behind his gruesome barricade and worked his machine gun furiously. When his magazines were empty, he seized an automatic and continued firing. Finally, the Japs wavered and stopped.

They don't know just how many Basilone killed, but this Italian boy from Raritan, N. J., was credited with "playing a major part in the destruction of an entire Jap regiment," when he was awarded the Congressional medal of honor.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former feature editor of the Charlotte (N. C.) News has been inducted into the army and has completed the first few days of his training at camp. He has given prospective inductees advice to "paint the town red" before getting into the army and once in he tells them that "the first three weeks are the hardest." He has gone through the experience of the army physical exam, has been fitted with a uniform, been classified as a cook and has had a good taste of KP duty. In fact, he has had so much of the latter that his sergeant is beginning to despair. So is Private Hargrove. He has completed a KP session and returns to his quarters.

CHAPTER III

I tiptoed into the squadroom so that the sergeant wouldn't notice that I was wearing fatigue clothes. His voice rang out to me as I passed his door, and I slunk in guiltily.

The sergeant's face showed that he was hurt. "You were on KP again today, weren't you, Hargrove?"

I lowered my eyes and scuffed my toe against the floor. "Yes, sir."

"Oh, I get so discouraged sometimes," the sergeant said. "I try so hard to make something of you and what good does it do? Every time I go through the kitchen I see you in there scrubbing the sink! How many times have you been on KP this week?"

"Only three times, sir," I said, avoiding his eyes.

"It was all the corporal's fault, sir," I said, looking around to make sure that the corporal wasn't there to defend himself. "Just because I right-faced a few times when I was supposed to left-face, and I zigged when I should have zagged, and because I forgot and smoked in ranks—and a few other things like that."

"And," said the sergeant shaking his head sadly, "you just turned around casually every time he ordered 'about-face.' And you kept watching your feet all through drill. And you stayed out of step all morning and you took those plowhand strides of yours and walked all over the man in front of you. And you sassed the drillmaster three times. And you generally spoiled the whole morning's drill. Why can't you be a good boy and learn the drills?"

"That's all, Hargrove," he said, mopping his brow; "you're not supposed to salute a non-commissioned officer—just go to bed."

"I don't mean to be bad, sir," I said.

"And that's another thing," the sergeant moaned. "Why must you say 'sir' to the noncommissioned officers and forget to salute the commissioned ones?" He mopped his forehead wearily. "Do you know what the top sergeant told me today?"

"No, sir," I said, twisting my cap and awaiting the worst.

"He said—and don't 'sir' me—that when the battery commander had you on the carpet yesterday you stood there leaning on the table, and you shifted your feet eight times. And you saluted four times during his talk—and when you saluted you gave a European heel-click and bowed. And when the captain dismissed you, you told him, 'Thank you, sergeant' and forgot to salute when you left."

"Was there anything else, sir?" I asked in a whisper.

"That's all, Hargrove," he said, wiping great drops of perspiration from his forehead.

"Thank you, sir," I said. I saluted, clicking my heels, and turned to go.

"Hargrove," the tired voice said. "You're not supposed to salute a noncommissioned—Never mind, Hargrove. Just go to bed."

"Just look at me," the exercise sergeant roars in a voice that would go four miles against the wind. "Just look! I weigh two hundred and eight pounds and I'm in the worst physical condition I've ever been in! I ought to be busted for the way I've allowed myself to get fat and flabby! I'm ashamed!"

You look at the exercise sergeant and wonder what he's leading up to. To you he looks like the "after taking" part of a malted yeast advertisement. He could probably lick his weight in police dogs.

His next statement explains everything. "Now I'm going to show you an exercise that's so simple it's almost ridiculous. Even I can do it. Now, I don't want to hear anybody down there admitting he's in worse shape than I am. If I can do it, you can do it—or else!"

He outlines the exercise and you begin wondering how a contortionist happened to wind up at Fort Bragg. This self-styled "fat and flabby" calisthenics master doesn't have any knees or elbows. You stand there waiting to hear his spine fall apart under the strain, but he comes up all in one piece.

"That's the way I want you boys to do it," he says, beaming cheerfully. You begin to feel your face getting gray and you wonder why a bolt of lightning doesn't come to deliver you from the prospective torture.

"One. Two. Three. Four. Five. Six. Seven. Eight. One. Two—"

The first three or four times are the hardest. After that, you get the swing of it. It's really tame stuff, you decide.

"The next exercise," says the sergeant, "is what we call the quarter, half and full knee bend. It goes like this." He shows you. When you see it, the corners of your mouth go up in a sneer of derision (unless the corporal is looking). Ho Hum, you say to yourself. Why do they take up time with this play?

"Exercise—one, two, three, four—" Quarter, half, full recover. Your knees get That Tired Feeling after the third time. After the sixth time, you feel your eyes getting glassy. After the ninth, you're floating in space. By the time the exercise is over, nothing matters any more.

Before you have marched off the drill field you notice that you still haven't collapsed. In fact, you find to your disappointment that you're beginning to feel good. All limbered up.

Quarantine has been lifted for us of the July 17 contingency. If the sergeant wasn't looking over my shoulder, I'd say it's about time. Before our release from isolation, Army style, I was able to get around and swap lies and gripes with every one of the boys in our group.

A little under 100 per cent of them came up with the same account, which reads as follows: "Our battery has the worst food in the Army. We've got the worst sergeant in the battery. No kidding, though, our platoon makes all the others look crummy. Here two weeks already and I haven't pulled KP or had the sergeant jump me a time yet. Don't tell a soul, but I think they're going to make me a corporal." All of which is a lot of hot air.

Actually, they're fighting to get into the mess hall first at every meal. They're gaining weight and tanning where they used to blister. They're sassing their sergeants, who deplore them as the sorriest bunch of rookies they ever sweated over. Every one of them has been on KP at least once.

By the time Congress says I may go home and be a mere civilian again, I suppose I'll be the best soldier at Fort Bragg. At least I seem to get more individual attention than anyone else. Private tutoring, I always tell the boys.

We were at work the other morning learning how to handle a rifle. The sergeant was putting us through our paces.

"Hargrove," he said with infinite sweetness, "where is the balance of your rifle?"

"This is all the supply sergeant gave me, sir," I said. "I thought it was all here."

The sergeant slapped his forehead and mumbled something furiously under his breath. "Wonder-child," he said, "this (pointing) is the balance of your rifle. I can't imagine why they call it that, unless it's because when you hold the rifle there with one hand, it's balanced." He then went on for a few minutes, explaining a few of the things I had still failed to master.

"Now do you understand it?" he asked, beaming at me with a look made of all sweet accord.

"No, sir," I said.

The sergeant sighed wearily. "Private Hargrove," he said, "right down by the next barracks there's a group of young people who are practicing with rifles for the first time. They haven't had theirs for three days like you have. Run along down there and see if you can keep up with them."

I tried. There was some confusion about the orders, however. At the end of a movement where I wound up with my rifle on my left shoulder, the rest of the detail had theirs on the right. I noticed also that I usually finished a command long before the others.

The sergeant in charge of the detail commenced on this. "You know, Shorty," he said, "you have all of these routines worked out much better than the War Department was able to do them. Where it took them sixteen counts to complete the sixteen-count manual, you always manage somehow to complete it in twelve."

I was still blushing modestly when he called the corporal over. He said something to the corporal, who took me by the elbow and guided me gently around the building at a spot where, he said, the battery officers wouldn't see me drilling and thereby be discouraged.

"This," he said, pronouncing each syllable slowly and distinctly, "is what we have come to call a rifle.

R-i-f-l-e. It is used for the purpose of shooting. Primitive man, we are told, did not have a rifle. Primitive man was forced to bring down his supper with a knife, a spear, a stone, a bow and arrows or his own little primitive hands."

I nodded automatically and paid scant attention to all this. I already knew it.

"Today," he continued, "civilization has been improved upon to the extent that—"and he went on and on. After that we began at the beginning of the manual of arms and took each command slowly. The corporal sweated for forty-five minutes.

"In the first place you can peel potatoes with a bayonet."

"Are there any questions now, Private Hargrove?"

I thought for a while. "Yes, sir," I said. "That is, 'yes, corporal.' What use will I have for a rifle? I'm going to be a cook."

The corporal mopped his brow. "Well, Private Hargrove," he said, patting me lovingly on the shoulder. "You'll find use for it. Ha! ha! In the first place, you can peel potatoes with a bayonet. And in the second place—if you're as good a cook as you are a soldier—you'll need it every day. After breakfast, lunch, and supper you'll need it to protect yourself from murder at the hands of your comrades in arms."

"See here, Private Hargrove," the sergeant sighed. "Can't you try just once to do something right? Don't you want to be a credit to the platoon? You don't want us to be the worst bunch in the battery after we've been the best for so long, do you?"

"Please, sergeant," I begged him. "couldn't I just stay inside for this once? They'd never miss me at rifle inspection. I'd be very quiet and nobody would ever know."

He ignored the request. "Try hard to remember, private, these few simple things. When the officer reaches the man next to you, open the rifle. When he grabs your gun, don't hang onto it or you'll have a bellyache for two weeks. When he throws it back to you, don't catch it with your chin. And when you get it back, snap the trigger. And heaven help you if you ball this thing up!"

The forces of Destiny placed me second in the front rank at inspection. We stood at attention for three minutes before the inspecting officer approached. For seconds after we brought our rifles up for inspection, a fly which seemed to be a little larger than a June bug landed on my forehead. The sergeant shot a warning glance across my bow and I decided to humor the fly. It would go away soon, I told myself, although I knew it wouldn't.

The inspecting officer still had not begun his rounds. He was waiting for us to get off our guard. The fly demonstrated its impatience by stepping up to double-quick in its pacing. "Oh, if I only had you alone!" I thought. The itching nose became more insistent. A gnat made a three-point landing on it and began playing about the left nostril.

I gave the sergeant a glance which said distinctly, "This can't go on much longer. Something's going to pop!" His return glance said, in italicized words, "Eat just one eyelash and I'll break your neck!"

Suddenly the inspecting officer grabbed the rifle from the hand of Grafenstein, who stood beside me. His lightning swoop on the gun, coupled with the speed with which Grafenstein relinquished it, completely paralyzed me. An almost inaudible groan made me look at the sergeant. He was making furious grimaces at me and his face looked as if he was going to burst a blood vessel. He kept wagging his eyes down to the bolt of my rifle. A split second before the officer reached me, I managed to pull the bolt.

I could see the sergeant unloading freight carloads of potatoes for me to peel. I could see the next weekend, with me restricted to quarters while the rest of the platoon enjoyed themselves in town.

The officer reached me several lifetimes later. He looked at my face and sighed wearily. Then, with infinite tenderness, he gently lifted the rifle from my grasp. He inspected it and handed it back to me as though he was laying a brick on an orchid or giving a hundred-pound weight to his aged grandmother. He sighed again and passed on to the next man, whose rifle he grabbed with the confidence that the man wouldn't fall apart when he snatched it.

Newest Fashions Are Styled With Exquisite Simplicity

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THE wartime plea for fabric conservation has ushered in a new era of costume design. It is one that calls for clothes that are feminine but not fussy, with the emphasis placed on beautiful body lines that make streamlined flattery their theme. You will find this new silhouette to be utterly charming in that it slenderizes from head to foot at the same time it subtly molds to the figure with feminine grace.

The exquisite simplicity with which the newest fashions are styled also reflected in the discreet use made of trimmings and the choice manner in which clever detail is worked out so as to achieve "the touch that tells." It will be interesting to watch the development of this movement, for all signs point to the technique that calls for sophisticated simplicity as the fashion creed of the future as well as now. Speaking for the present, certain it is that the new fashions created with the definite purpose of converting a minimum of fabric into a maximum of "style" is resulting in the most dramatically wearable clothes that have ever written themselves into the pages of fashion history.

The winsome dresses done in the Berenice Holloway manner as here pictured, are characteristic of the new trend that calls for classic simplicity. "Body beautiful" lines give outstanding style distinction to the stunning "after five" black dress pictured to the left in the illustration. It has the new short length straight-as-an-arrow skirt, so modish this fall. Fringe is one of the most important trimmings in use this season. In this instance, a deep cascade of black silk fringe falls sleek and sophisticated from a simple neckline, somewhat after the manner of a choirboy's surplice. Note the trim fitted waistline.

The simple town dress centered in the trio makes bright color its theme, as do the majority of daytime wools this season. The designer chooses a clear singing purple wool for this dress, giving it "glitter drama," via rich gilt embroidery that sparkles from the belt, and nobby jewel buttons that lead up to the double loop collar that nestles high under the chin.

The third of these Berenice Holloway originals as shown to the right is a timeless classic. It has all the subtleties of narrow slenderizing lines which modern costume design demands. This dress definitely carries the message of fall 1943 styling. The gently shirred panel eases off to allow front fullness in the skirt. Chunky plastic buttons shine against the dull mat finish of the gray Enka rayon crepe of the dress. The high notched collar imparts an artful style touch.

In suits as in dresses you will find that the emphasis is on pencil-slim lines. The smart silhouette that women-of-fashion covet for fall is achieved by wearing a topper in the new short length, such as is creating such a furor just now, over your sleek-skirted suit. The flare of the topper contrasts the slimmest of the suit skirt in animated lines that are youthful and flattering.

The movement to siren slenderness is particularly noticeable in the new beautifully proportioned sheath-like dinner gowns that are so outstanding in the current fashion picture. Sometimes there is a side movement in the slant drape of the skirt, then again a slashed hemline achieves versatile lines.

Handknit Topper

This is a season when handsome wool handknit fashions are looked upon with high regard. A treasured possession is this wool handknit double-breasted topper. It has a thoroughbred air about it which makes instant appeal to women of discriminating taste. Wear it over slacks at home, over skirts or dresses on the street and it will prove wonderfully effective as a wrap worn over evening clothes. Here is a wrap that will hold good the year round and the more you wear it the more you will treasure it.

Balanced Turbans

To suit the turban to the face milliners are giving new side width.

Dazzle Belts Set Off

Slim Classic Frocks

The new dress theory is that you look smartest when your frock is of the simplest, emphasizing perfect lines and striking color, with trimming conspicuous by its absence. With this model of simplicity you are supposed to add some one or other accessory that simply startles with its "dash and go." For instance, there are dazzling belts that are designed to be worn with classically simple frocks just by way of keen contrast. Handwork and jewels and sequins galore go into the making of these glamorous belts that interpret the effectiveness of a single important highspot for your slim classic dress. The only way to properly sense the extravagant beauty of these belts is to see them with your own eyes in display at smart accessory counters and shops.

Gloves Go Dramatic

As a glamorous touch to your costume gloves are cast to play a star role during the coming months. Just now it's the stunning kidskin gloves designed to go with your smart tweeds and tailored suits that you'll be wanting. The swankiest are brief and you can get them in black, navy or brown stitched in sharp contrast with white. To wear when in gala attire there's a treat in store in that a sensational revival is predicted for fine white kidskin gloves. Decorative stitching, embroidery, tucks, beads and sequins will give them intrigue. Some will be styled with shirred insets, others will have eyelid cut-out embroidery ruffling. There's a big season ahead for immaculate white gloves. Pigskin gloves in white and in suit colors are ideal to wear with smart town suits.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

South America supplied 65 per cent of the world's rubber needs in 1890, while in 1922 only about 6 per cent came from that section. Far East plantation development accounts for the drop in the demand for Amazon Valley rubber.
Synthetic rubber is defined as a man-made combination of molecules that form a substance having the chief characteristics of crude rubber.
In 1938 the total of American-controlled rubber plantations was about 260,000 acres, mostly in the Far East. These plantations produced 40,000 tons annually, or about 8 per cent of U. S. imports.

PT. LOMA HIGH GRADUATE

Beau Bonfield, 17, son of Mrs. Richard P. Pourade, of 2021 Evergreen st., Monday received notice from Rep. Ed V. Izac that he had placed first in the 23rd congressional district competitive examination for appointment to the U.S. Naval academy at Annapolis.

Bonfield's score, in the test conducted for Izac by the U. S. civil service commission, was 90.50, Izac stated.

"I am therefore offering you the designation as principal . . . for the class entering the naval academy in 1944," Izac wrote.

Born in Ottumwa, Ia., Bonfield attended elementary and junior high schools in San Diego, and senior high schools in San Diego, Sacramento and Hollywood.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Lt. Charles Broskas, of Brooklyn, N. Y., teamed up with another fighting lieutenant in a half-track vehicle at Arcole, Algeria, to hand-grenade his way through two machine gun nests that flanked our line of advance, and then machine gunned all resistance in the town. The enemy withdrew, and our columns advanced. Lieutenant Broskas was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.
